

Letter from the Front

You are going to write a letter home from the front (battlefield) or you can choose to write a letter from home to a loved one fighting in the war. Either way, your letter should include the following:

- Mention of a specific World War I battle
- Discussion of at least four aspects of "Total War" from our activity
- Descriptive language including adjectives and sensory details from our activity
- Excellent writing – grammar, spelling, punctuation, and neatness
